A mathematical symbol is a figure or a combination of figures that is used to represent a mathematical object, an action on mathematical objects, a relation between mathematical objects, or for structuring the other symbols that occur in a formula. As formulas are entirely constituted with symbols of various types, many symbols are needed for expressing all mathematics.

A Guide to Writing Mathematics - Computer Science

You may have wondered why web sites, such as Wikipedia, use images for presenting mathematical formulas, even in simple cases like $\nabla^2\phi = 0$. Partly the reason is simplicity and uniformity: since some formulas need to be presented as images, it may sound simpler to use images for all images—even in cases where simple HTML markup would do fine:
